MORE THAN 300 ON EXCURSION

Historical Society's Visit
To El Dorado County Sunday
Proves Outstanding Success

Approximately 385 members of the California-Nevada Railroad Historical Society spent Sunday in El Dorado County, coming from Oakland and intermediate points in a ten-car special train.

The visitors arrived in Placerville at one o'clock and continued an hour later, following luncheon, to Camino, where they boarded an especially prepared logging train of the Michigan-California Lumber Company for a visit to the company's cable crossing of the American River Canyon.

Returning to Placerville in the late afternoon, they departed for Oakland again by special train about seven o'clock.

Their visit to the county saw the El Dorado County Chamber of Commerce as a hospitality committee and under the leadership of officers of the organization, approximately sixty private cars were provided to transport the excursionists from Placerville to Camino and return. At Camino, the visitors received souvenir booklets of the trip, distributed by the Michigan-California Lumber Company and the Camino, Placerville and Lake Tahoe Railroad, telling the history of the lumber railroad and of the lumber company and bearing a picture of the company's Locomotive No. 2, built in 1884, and said to be the oldest Shay-type locomotive still in use.

It was this piece of equipment which the society's members were especially interested in seeing.

Upon their departure, the excursionists were presented with ten lugs of El Dorado County peaches, by the chamber of commerce.

MOTHER OF E. L. SCOTT TAKEN BY DEATH AT OAKLAND

Mrs. F. O. Scott, 83, mother of County Assessor E. L. Scott, passed away on Sunday at her home in Oakland. Mrs. Scott was a native of Minnesota and came to California as a child.

She had visited Placerville from time to time during the past several years and had thus made the acquaintance of a number of the friends of her son in this county.

The funeral services will be held on Tuesday at Oakland. In addition to the son mentioned, she is survived by three other sons and one daughter. The elder Mr. Scott passed away in 1923.

LUMBERERS MEET ON LAND USE PROBLEM

Western Pine And Redwood
Operators In Accord With Forest Service On Policy

SAN FRANCISCO—Representatives of western pine and redwood lumbermen recently met with officials of the U. S. Forest Service to discuss the forest land use problems of the state as a preliminary to the joint Congressional inquiry on this subject, now under way. Senator McAdoo and Representative Englebright, of California, are members of this committee, which indicates the importance of forests to the welfare of this state.

The lumber industry and public agencies are in substantial agreement concerning the initial steps which must have undertaken to insure to the people of California the greatest benefits from this valuable resource.

First, a full and accurate inventory of the forest lands of the state to be carried out by the Forest survey under the direction of the Forest Experiment Station at Berkeley. Next, adequate protection of young and old forests from fire, insects and disease must be insured. Third, necessary steps to stabilize forest ownership by public acquisition and removal of the economic pressures leading to forced liquidation of timber stands. Fourth, added emphasis on research directed toward improved methods of managing timber lands and finding new uses for forest products. And last to support enactment of the McNary-Doxey bill which would authorize the setting up of co-operative sustained yield units including both public and private timber.

There are, of course, other necessary and advisable steps to be taken in developing a sound forest land use policy for the United States. But more can be accomplished by concentrating on a few fundamental recommendations which will enlist the support of all interested in forest conservation. It is very gratifying to know that the lumber industry is giving wholehearted support to all sound and practical measures, which insure the greatest benefits to the people of California from the state's magnificent timber resources.

NEWLY BUILT RESIDENCE OPEN FOR PUBLIC INSPECTION

George Yaeger has just completed a modern cottage at the corner of Spring and Canal Streets, and announces that the new home is now open to public inspection.

The house, consisting of three rooms, is considered by those who have seen it to be of very different and unique design—the "house built around the kitchen." The kitchen and breakfast nook are as in one room with bedroom and living room, sufficing for the average small family.

A shower is in the bath room and a garage in the large basement. The cottage is of frame construction with full concrete foundation.

The interior, which is newly decorated, has linoleum laid and shades on the windows. The linoleum and shades were furnished by the Furniture Exchange.

Echo Summit Realignment Cuts Grade From 11 Pct. To 5 Pct.

New Route Crosses Old Hawley Grade; 2.3 Mile Section Will Cost Approximately $303,000; Obtaining 24-Foot Roadway East Of Summit Presents Problem For Road Engineers, Article Reveals

The following explanatory article on the Echo Summit highway realignment project, scheduled for completion this Fall, appeared in the August issue of California Highways, official publication of the State Department of Public Works, and is reprinted by permission.

The article was illustrated with a number of views and maps of the project, some of which are here re-produced. The entire front cover of the magazine was devoted to a view of the project on the east side of the summit.

The article follows:

In the Sierra mountain region of El Dorado County there is under construction of a grading contract of a short but important unit on U. S. Route 50. It is a relocation of the road over Echo Summit and includes the upper part of Meyers Grade, on the Placerville-Lake Tahoe Highway.

The revised highway departs from the existing road two miles east of Phillips Station, trending southeasterly on easy grade through timbered land to a small pass in the ridge east of the existing highway summit, at a site where the old Hawley Grade wagon road passed. This road was built in 1858 to provide a shorter route to the gold country and was used till 1861.

ITALY BANS JEWS AS PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS

ROME, (Copyright 1938 by United Press)—Principals of public grade and high schools throughout Italy have been ordered to drop all Jewish teachers except in "special cases" approved personally by Giuseppe Bottai, minister of education, it was learned reliably today.

The order means that Jewish teachers will be almost entirely eliminated from all public schools, effective Oct. 1, when the new school year begins.

60 U. S. Congressmen Aid Reds Unwittingly, Claim

WASHINGTON, (UP)—James B. Matthews, former communist party worker, told the Dies committee today that 60 congressmen and six motion picture stars—including Shirley Temple and Robert Taylor—served unwittingly to spread communist propaganda.

Matthews did not place the names of the 60 congressmen in the record of the house committee investigating un-American activities. But he identified them as senators and representatives who last year signed a greeting to the parliament of the Spanish loyalist government.

DUST BOWL TAPS HUGE UNDERGROUND LAKES FOR IRRIGATION

GUYMON, Okla., (AP) — Optimistic from the results of a year's research, state agricultural and water conservation authorities believe today they had discovered a means of permanent reclamation for the dust bowl.

Great bodies of water have been located under the arid Panhandle district and scientists believe that the amount is sufficient for permanent water well irrigation throughout the entire southwestern dust bowl area of Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico.

Several irrigation wells are in operation now, one of them having flowed 1,000 gallons of water a minute for the past year. It was drilled by the state board of agriculture at the Panhandle A. & M. College, Goodwell, near Guymon.

In one place, a body of water 500 to 700 feet deep was located 250 feet below the surface.

Results from other experimental work conducted by the U. S. Geological survey, the state Geological survey and the U. S. Department of Interior, prompted F. L. Vaughan, Oklahoma City, director of the water Planning and Resources Board, to outline an extensive program.

CALIFORNIA LEADS IN SOCIAL SECURITY ACT BENEFITS

SAN FRANCISCO, (Special) — Although ranking sixth in population, California is now first among the states in the amount of federal, state and local funds spent for support of the state's needy aged, dependent children and needy blind, the social security board's regional office announced here today.

During July these three groups, which receive aid under the public assistance plan of the social security act, were paid an estimated total of $4,611,500 in California while comparable programs in New York, the most populous state of the country, cost a total of $3,920,600. Ohio, ranking third in public assistance expenditures, paid a total of $3,057,400 in federal, state and local contributions during July.

The figures were released here in a survey of developments during the three years since President Roosevelt signed the social security act on August 14, 1935.

Almost one-tenth of the federal grants since public assistance funds became available in February 1936 has been made to California. Total grants to the states through July 19 were reported as $434,298,721 and of this amount California received $41,648,247 or 9.6 per cent.

HEARING SET IN TRIAL OF 14-YEAR OLD "HONOR SLAYING"

MADERA, (AP) — Otto C. Hake, 52, Madera county rancher, today awaited a preliminary examination, next step in his legal battle to be freed of a charge of murdering George Collins, his brother-in-law, 14 years ago. He was being held in the county jail here.

Hake remained silent while he heard himself formally accused of the slaying when arraigned before Justice of the Peace H. V. Eastman in Chowchilla.

Justice Eastman set his preliminary hearing for next Tuesday.

Defense attorneys said they would seek an early trial for the elderly rancher, who was taken into custody six days ago after his son Rodney, 22, angry because his father had him arrested for stealing grain from the Hake ranch near Chowchilla, revealed details of the "honor slaying" of Collins in 1924.

THE Book Mark

By JANE VOILES

WITH MALICE TOWARD SOME. By Margaret Halsey. New York: Simon and Schuster, $2.50.

Wasn't it about 100 years ago that the estimable Mrs. Trollope wrote her book "Domestic Manners of the Americans"? Mrs. Trollope who had a high sense of Decorum found us sadly lacking in that commodity and we have been staggering under her criticism and that of her followers ever since. And now: "Hot dog, folks! Here comes Peg Halsey, after all these years," to lay the ghost.

Margaret Halsey is a faculty wife but that doesn't cramp her style on this trip to England where Henry her husband is exchange professor. She admits that she is unadventurous and middle class, that she has about as much sentiment as Caesar's Commentaries but that she has a fondness for anything of an assured antiquity. She tells us that Henry her husband, is divinely tall and most divinely leucis-faire and that professor-like, he accepts anything that turns up as a footnote in the character of a divine revelation.

Fanning the embers on the altar of tradition has no place in Margaret Halsey's scheme of things, you may be sure. In fact, she has no virtuous misgivings about a good, swift kick to the embers if she thinks they have it coming. Certainly she makes them fly at Stratford on the Avon. Yet with no aspiring concern for culture, she writes refreshingly about the English Cathedral.

While food, climate, English lifts and English false teeth come in for their share of caustic criticism, Margaret Halsey is really out to scalp the minor gentry. She discovers that when the gentry converse about her countrymen, they consider them, culturally speaking, as running neck to neck with the antipodean apes. Curiously enough, she learns that the fate of the American Indian continues to capture the English imagination in some quarters and to be a lively subject of discourse. Others of the gentry confine themselves to such topics as central heating and frigidaire when they talk to Americans.

The English lady can go gracefully "on all eight cylinders" when the occasion requires it, but the strength is drained out of her in her deliberating efforts to sustain the proprieties. The English idea of a well-turned-out woman, Miss Halsey declares, is something that looks like a Biblical character in a charade, as the English woman has no more idea of line and color in her clothes than an orang outang. The English gentleman strikes the fear of God in the breasts of all English women since they regard him "as something between God and a goat."

and equally formidable on both scores. Once Margaret and her husband get all smuggled up for a party—the host sheds the burden of hospitality as soon as he greets them. They see nothing more of him and Margaret concludes that he has turned into a Tom Collins and disappeared down the throat of a guest.

She continues her observations on the social scene after she moves into a house which may well be the envy of every woman who ever hopes to stay in England; a house with old furniture that has a patina and a garden with a moss-encrusted wall. It is true that the stove has "manic-depressive tendencies" but the maid Phyllis whom the critical Margaret herself admits should be canonized, gets around it.

Now the "maturity" doesn't come in for any malice, indeed, Margaret Halsey openly declares her wish that next time she comes to England, Henry will, have an exchange with a plumber. The English porters, she claims, take care of you "with a solicitude that in the United States is accorded to the President or noticeably pregnant women." The English police do not sour on their jobs and the sales people are balm in Gilead.

But let it be said that there is justice in Margaret Halsey as she doesn't spare her own people. How she can hit the Americans with a just line; the school teacher whose manner suggests very clearly that "life had better watch its step or she would take down its little pants and pink." The Princeton man with 22 suit cases who was clearly designed by nature to be pushed overboard," the lady from Cleveland who comes into the conversation like a hand grenade.

There are unbacked and delightful observations about the excursions to Sweden and Norway and to Paris.

Of course Margaret Halsey is out to get a laugh and she gets, not one but many. Refusing to study life from draped models, she writes with engaging frankness and with a strain of good old horse sense. You couldn't say that her speech has been culled from scholarly journals or that it shows the influence of Pater but it does show that in addition to wide reading, Margaret Halsey has kept her ears open in the subway. If the "sign on a person's understanding is to be measured by his mirth as some old worthy said, then Margaret Halsey is a night smart girl.

"Sweeps" Winner Keeps Gas Station Job

BRANTFORD, Ont., (AP) — William Riddle is regarded here as a rarity among sweepstakes winners.

Two months ago he won $45,200 in the Irish Sweepstakes; but, unlike most of the other winners, he has not given up his poorly-paying job, and is still working as night attendant at a service station here. He is keeping an eye open, however, for a better job, but until he gets one he declares he will not give up the one he has.

CAPTAIN HEWITT WINS YEAR'S SCHOLARSHIP AT TRAFFIC SCHOOL

Captain Milo L. Hewitt of Sacramento, who has been in charge of the training school and first aid instruction department of the Sacramento county highway patrol for several years, has been awarded the Kemper scholarship for a year's study at the traffic training school of Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois.

Hewitt competed for the scholarship with captains and inspectors of the northern California highway patrol. He, Captain Austin J. Rales of Mendocino county and District Inspector A. J. Ford of San Francisco finished as the three highest.

Hewitt has a wide acquaintance in El Dorado County, having served with the patrol here on special duty on various occasions.

Colfax, Folsom In Title Play

Thurman's Lions Qualify For Play-Off With Shut-Out Victory Over Loomis Sunday

AUBURN.—Craig (Chops) Hyde, six-foot, four-inch Sacramento pitcher, hurled his second straight shutout in the Placer-Nevada league playoff series here Sunday when he set Loomis down with six hits and gave Colfax a 6-0 victory.

Last Sunday Hyde shut out Roseville, 3-0. Sunday's performance made 18 innings of consecutive shutout ball for the lanky kid from the capital city.

The win put Colfax into the play-off finals against Folsom. The teams will begin a three-game set-to for the championship next Sunday, place of the first game not decided yet.

A home run by Gus Merrill of Colfax was the game's hitting feature.

Their first stop was at Diamond Springs, where they inspected the equipment of the Diamond and Caldor railroad, later continuing to Placerville for luncheon. The trip to Camino and to the cable ferry followed, after which the excursionists were returned to the county seat for dinner and, following a brief rest period, began their journey home.

The officers of the Chamber of Commerce expressed their thanks to all who assisted in the entertainment of the visitors by providing cars for the trip to Camino.

FRANCE WELDS DEFENSES BY BUILDING VITAL OIL LINE

By PETER C. RHODES

United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS. (UP)—France will begin the construction of the largest oil pipeline in Europe in October, as the first major step toward eliminating the danger to its gasoline supply in time of war. The pipeline will run from the little port of Dongas near the naval base of St. Nazaire at the mouth of the Loire, 300 miles into the interior of the country at Montargis, and will be completed in one year.

This decision was the first public announcement of the activity of a newly created carburants committee working in the ministry of war which was named on June 30. The first task assigned was to find a port out of bombing range of all frontiers and open to commerce from overseas even during wartime and to construct a pipeline from that point to safe positions in the center of the country where the gasoline could be stored secretly.

MISS MELVA BRAUER IS MARRIED ON SUNDAY TO JUSTUS W. BRAND

Mr. and Mrs. Justus W. Brand left late Sunday evening to spend several days at the bay district, following which they will be at home to their friends at Lodi.

Mrs. Brand, prior to her marriage, was Miss Melva Brauer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd I. Brauer, of Los Angeles. She is a grand-daughter of Dr. S. B. Shepard, of Fruit Ridge.

The wedding service took place on Sunday evening at Memory Chapel in the presence of a large number of relatives and invited friends when the couple repeated their vows before the Rev. F. DeWitt Gautereau, of Oakland.

The bride was attended by Miss LeReigh Perley, of Lodi, as maid of honor, and her cousin, Miss Lorraine Westrup, as bridesmaid. Little Beverly Joy St. John, of Ripon, was flower girl.

Mr. Brand was attended as best man by his brother, Melvin Brand, and by Robert Barker.

During the service, Robert Barker was heard in two solos, "Until" and "All of My Heart," and joined with the bride's aunt, Mrs. Hazel Shepard Volz, in a duet "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Howard Scott, Sacramento organist, was at the organ.

Mr. Brand is associated with his father, Fenton Brand, in the contracting business at Lodi, where the couple will make their home.

The marriage follows a courtship which began when the two attended the Lodi Academy.

Following the service there was a reception at the Shepard ranch at Fruit Ridge after which, at a late hour, the happy couple departed for the Bay District amid a chorus of good wishes from relatives and friends in which we are happy to join.

Mrs. J. J. Wiley and her daughter Alene have returned from a two-month vacation in Western Canada, stopping at Lake Louise, Banff and Jasper Park and visiting Edmonton, Saskatoon and Winnipeg.

National Guard News

AUBURN—Major Merl W. Bremer, our Second Battalion Commanding Officer, visited us Tuesday night. He explained the new drill schedule to us and told us just why the Army had adopted it. The new system calls for a lot of preparation by the non-commissioned officers in the future. Instead of just the three officers of the Company conducting the training, every non-com in the outfit is assigned a subject on each drill night and he is to conduct the training the following Tuesday in his particular subject. In this way the entire non-com personnel of a National Guard Company will be ready to step into officer positions in case of a National emergency. That is the principal of National Guard training—to train civilian soldiers to become officers. This type of training will give the individual non-com a chance to show his initiative and the best chance in the world to show his abilities as a leader of troops. Proper knowledge is one thing but the ability to put it over to a group of men is another. The Major also bet quite a few chicken dinners among the non-coms. At the present I know of two that he is going to have to pay.

Owing to the oil that the High School put on the drive around the old gymnasium we were unable to use the drill floor but drilled out on the ground below the tennis courts. Outside of the dirt, it was swell—nice and cool.

Our recruiting contest is coming along slowly. At the present time we have two new members and one old one—Private Eugene Williams of Marysville has moved back to town and has transferred back to his old outfit. The two men are Lloyd McKinstry and Gordon Boyd both of Auburn.

GIFT PLANE FOR GOVERNMENT

CANBERRA. (UP)—Premier Lyons has accepted an offer of Greek residents of Australia to present the nation with a defense airplane "in gratitude to our beloved adopted country in its hour of need."

Brother, 4, Risks Life To Save Sister, 2

AUBURN, Me. (UP)—A brother and sister with the help of a 42-year-old neighbor proved the adage that heroism knows no age limits.

When Betty Lou Murphy, 2, fell into a well near her home, her brother Clayton, Jr., 4, jumped in to save her. But he failed.

Sister Ann, 5, went to the rescue. She pulled Clayton to safety. She screamed for help when she couldn't find Betty Lou. Horace Williams came on the scene and located the now unconscious baby. He revived her in 15 minutes.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish by this means publicly to thank the many kind friends who offered their sympathy and assistance on the occasion of the recent death of our beloved husband and father, Lowery Taylor Butts.

We wish especially to thank the Fraternal Order of Eagles, the minister, those who sent the many beautiful floral pieces and who offered the use of their cars, and all others who in any way endeavored to be of assistance.

"ELMER", OF LEGION, IS POSITIVE HE'S NOT MISSING

SCRANTON, (UP)—The once-popular idiom—"Where's Elmer?" has been answered for the time being.

The saying originated at the 1934 New York state American Legion convention at Binghamton and has been a by-word at every gathering of Legionnaires since.

"Elmer" is Elmer Wentworth of Syracuse, N. Y. He recently walked into Legion headquarters here and said: "Where's Elmer?"

No one knew.

"Well, I'm Elmer," said Wentworth. He explained that during the 1934 Binghamton convention he became separated from friends. His friends cried, "Where's Elmer," and the convention made it a by-word. A 40 & 8 box car and engine toured the city as part of the search.

Elmer still was sought at the 1934 national convention in Chicago, and the St. Louis, Cleveland and New York conventions in 1935, 1936 and 1937.

Birth of a son, Everett Leland Turnbo, to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Turnbo, of El Dorado, on August 19, is recorded in a certificate filed on Monday with the county recorder.

lic Roads, under whose jurisdiction the contract is conducted. The construction will approximate an expenditure of $303,000.

West of the summit no difficult construction is involved in obtaining excellent roadway standards. From the summit to the easterly end of the contract, one mile, the work passes through irregular rock bluffs that top the steep slopes high above the valley floor. On this mile the design and construction of a roadway for a 24-foot crown width of surface present a difficult problem. Solid benching, retaining walls and concrete bridging were the practical means of providing roadway. At only several places would fills hold and in these places but to limited extent.

The desire to keep construction scars to the minimum on this recreational route influenced design and affected construction methods. Cabins and lodges along the brink of the crest above the highway location increased difficulties. Careful attention is being given to landscaping. The contractors are Louis Biasotti & Son and John Rocca.

Although completion of the contract is not expected until the fall of 1938, the present status of the job shows excellent results. As construction operations proceeded, the excavation lines in the high cutting of the fractured rock formation east of the summit have in general held unusually close to neat cross-section, avoiding excessive overbreak and resultant waste scars.

Careful engineering and construction work are evidenced. Cement rubble masonry walls maintain support for much of the roadway in critical stretches, with design of these features well in keeping with the character of the country traversed.

The new construction will be a spectacular section of the Tahoe Highway. Coming from the west the motorist will pass from an avenue of virgin timber to a vista overlooking the panorama of the Lake Tahoe basin. The transition will be made over a sweeping summit curve, widened and safeguarded.

The descent that follows will be on a roadway where width, curvature, grade and sense of security will be in marked contrast to the present road. The new road will facilitate maintenance, especially in providing reasonably safe conditions when snow removal is required to keep the route open. Similar road standards will apply when the entire grade can be reconstructed to Meyers.

Surface treatment is not included in the current contract. Provision for this item will be made by the State.

The U. S. Bureau of Roads officials in charge of the project are: L. I. Hewes, Deputy Chief Engineer; C. H. Sweetser, District Engineer; Levant Brown, Senior Highway Engineer in charge of Forest and Park roads construction; E. C. Brown, Senior Highway Engineer as Supervising Engineer, and M. M. Flint, Resident Engineer.
